ASTORIA WARRENTON

The Spirit of the Columbia

We welcome you to Astoria-Warrenton to discover the Spirit of the Columbia.

Our vibrant community was established in the 1800s and that was due in part to the steamer and sailing ships bringing commerce and visitors to our ports.

Today you may feel the Spirit of the Columbia while riding the trolley along the working waterfront in Astoria or taking a romantic walk on the beach in Warrenton as the sun is setting. When I was young, I would go for many rides at sunset on my horse, Bud, from the South Jetty to the Peter Iredale. It was an experience I will always remember.

Scenic rivers and lakes, Astoria-Warrenton has many for fishing and boating. Miles of trails for hiking and biking, including the newly completed, Fort to Sea Trail, at the Lewis and Clark Historical Park located at Fort Clatsop.

Rich in history, Fort Stevens in Warrenton, is known as the only installation attacked by the enemy since the War of 1812, when in June, 1941, a Japanese submarine fired upon our shores.

Taste the Spirit of the Columbia at one of our many distinctive restaurants.

For more information visit our Web site www.oldoregon.com.

The Spirit of Columbia is here for you to discover.

About This Guide

The Daily Astorian and the Astoria-Warrenton Area Chamber of Commerce combined talents to produce this guide to enhance your stay in the region at the end of the Lewis and Clark expedition.

The cover photograph was taken by Roger Warren. It shows the Liberty Theater in downtown Astoria at night. The theater is on the National Register of Historic Places and is used for theatrical and musical events. Other photographs are from The Daily Astorian files. Sue Cody, deputy managing editor of The Daily Astorian, designed the cover, coordinated, edited and designed the project.

SURROUND YOURSELF WITH HISTORY

Astoria, the oldest settlement west of the Rocky Mountains, has grown from a fur-trading, salmon and timber-rich community of the 1800s to "the next great destination," according to Sunset magazine's "Best of the West 2006."

Nestled against the hills along the Columbia River, Astoria's numerous Victorian homes overlook the town named for the early fur trader, John Jacob Astor. There are more buildings on the National Historic Register per square foot than anywhere else in Oregon.

Rich in a colorful history – including the arrival of Capt. Robert Gray in 1792 and the Lewis and Clark Expedition in 1805 – the area embraces its roots and builds on the future with riverfront improvements and downtown revitalization. Astoria is a tourist destination for cruise ships, river explorers, history buffs and vacationers traveling the Lewis and Clark Trail.

Whether you're strolling through the extensive Sunday Market with its farm-fresh vegetables and crafts or walking on the Riverwalk, you're sure to enjoy the ambiance of this former "Salmon Capital of the World."

Astoria is a friendly place and provides easy access to major recreational areas on Oregon's North Coast and the Long Beach (Wash.) Peninsula. Visitors can enjoy stunning views of the Columbia River from numerous points in the city along with river cruises, walking and driving tours, wildlife viewing, shopping and dining.

The trolley's bell, whistles from ships and the barks of sea lions add to the maritime atmosphere of this enchanting town.

Historic Astoria Waterfront

Explore Astoria's historic waterfront, where you can observe barges and freighters navigating the river in the course of their duties. Watch commercial fishing vessels delivering their daily catches to waiting fish markets and processing plants. See sailboats and watch the sea lions who gather at the East Mooring Basin.

Wear comfy shoes and stroll the paved Astoria Riverwalk for a leisurely walk along the picturesque waterfront.

Astoria Riverfront Trolley

Ride Old 300 for an up-close look at Astoria's canneries, sea lions and boat traffic on the Columbia River.

A beautifully refurbished 1913 streetcar, Old 300 carries passengers between the Port of Astoria and the East Mooring Basin. An all-volunteer group of motormen and conductors guide passengers along the four-mile ride, regaling them with tales of the area.

From March through Memorial Day, the trolley runs Friday, Saturday and Sunday. During the summer season,

Columbia River Maritime Museum

The Columbia River Maritime Museum, where the region's rich maritime legacy comes alive, is a "must see" for visitors to Astoria. The official maritime museum of the state of Oregon, it is the first nationally-accredited maritime museum on the Northwest Coast. It houses one of the most extensive collections of nautical artifacts on the West Coast.

Examine marine transportation from the days of dugout canoes to the present. Walk the bridge of a World War II vessel. Board the Columbia, a lightship that once guided ships to safety at the mouth of the Columbia River. Participate in a Columbia River Bar Coast Guard rescue.

New exhibits and the architectural beauty of the updated museum captivate visitors. One of the most dramatic exhibits is a 44-foot Coast Guard motor lifeboat in the glassed-in

The Astoria Column

No visit to the North Coast would be complete without a stop at the Astoria Column. Standing 125 feet tall, high atop Coxcomb Hill, the Column offers panoramic views of the Pacific Ocean, Oregon and Washington Coast mountain ranges, Columbia River and the city of Astoria.

This remarkable one-of-a-kind structure is the product of the ardent promotion of commerce and travel by the Great Northern Railway. Built in 1926, the Column's 14 25-foot-long scenes represent the triumphs, conflicts and turning points of the Pacific Northwest. The artwork is known as sgraffito, an Italian art form that combines carving and painting into the concrete structure. Over 400,000 visitors are drawn to this jewel on the hill and discover the fascinating pieces of American Indian, U.S. and Oregon history.

The Column is open dawn to dusk. The on-site gift shop and information center is open during the winter from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., with summer hours 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Whether you come to fly a glider from the top, enjoy a beverage or snack, or a souvenir from the gift shop, there is something for everyone at the Column. There is a $1 parking fee. Historical and group tours available by arrangement. Call (503) 325-2963 for more information.

ASTORIA'S PREMIER WATERFRONT SUITE

The Pilot House is located on the upper level of the Pier 14 Pilot Station in the heart of Astoria's historic waterfront. The Pilot Station is on the National Register of Historic Places and is the home of the Columbia River Pilots, who have guided ships up the Columbia River from Astoria to Portland, Oregon for more than 150 years.

This unique, luxury suite provides a panoramic view of the Columbia River as ocean-going ships glide past your windows. Step outside and ride the Riverfront Trolley to many of Astoria's attractions. Or take in virtually all of downtown Astoria's shops and restaurants within easy walking distance.

- Located on the upper level of the historic Pier 14 Pilot Station.
- Overlooking the Columbia River ship channel.
- Three-bedroom, three-bath luxury suite.
- Located in the heart of Astoria, Oregon.
- 1,700 sq. ft. of style and comfort.
- Superb amenities in every room — leather furniture, maritime artifacts, gourmet kitchen, three gas fireplaces, private balcony, laundry facilities.

The Liberty Theater

While strolling downtown Astoria, it's hard to miss the landmark Liberty Theater, located at Commercial and 12th streets.

Dating from 1925, the Italian Renaissance-style building is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Silent films, plays, vaudeville performances and lectures have a history on the stage. The theater had its Grand Reopening, featuring Pink Martini, in 2005. Renovation continues while numerous concerts and events are planned throughout the year. Capt. George Flavel House Museum, 441 Eighth St.

Built in 1885, the Capt. George Flavel House is considered to be one of the best examples of Queen Anne architecture in the Northwest. The home's interior features 14-foot-high ceilings, inlaid hardwoods and six fireplace mantels, made with materials imported from around the world. Capt. Flavel, an early Astoria millionaire, made his fortune as a river bar pilot and through real estate investments. Set on grounds covering an entire city block and including an 1887 carriage house, the estate was a triumph and a testament to what money could accomplish. In the 1800s, Finns went west . . . Sisu & Sauna. They couldn't go much further west than the mouth of the Columbia River. In the green, surrounding hills and valleys, and in Finn towns like Astoria (kaupunki) and Naselle (pikku kylä), they fished, farmed, logged – and kept up old traditions while making new ones. In July 2006, Finns go west again! Celebrate with us "sisu" and "sauna" and everything else Finnish, American Finnish-American, and just plain fun!

Clatsop County Historical Society's Heritage Museum, 1618 Exchange St.

Designed in 1904 by Portland architect Emil Schacht, the building housing the museum was originally built as Astoria's City Hall. It is now home to the Clatsop County Historical Society's archives and research library.

Two local economic engines since 1870, and for most of the 20th century, were logging and fishing. Both are represented by an extensive display of tools, equipment and photographs.

Astoria's colorful past, when it was known as a party town for sailors up and down the West Coast, is portrayed in the permanent exhibit "Vice and Virtue in Clatsop County." The exhibit features the partial reconstruction of an in-famous Astoria saloon.

The museum is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. April through September, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. October through March. Admission is $3 for adults; $2 for seniors, students and AAA members; and $1 for children 6 to 17. Free for children younger than 5.

Astoria Aquatic Center

Get in the swim of things at the Astoria Aquatic Center. It offers something for people of all ages. Swim in the recreation pool while a huge sprinkler sprays sheets of water on you; fly down a 100-foot open water slide with a 20-foot drop and lazy river current; work out in the six-lane 25-yard lap pool; relax in the adult hydro-spa pool; or watch your children splashing and playing in the kiddies' wading pool. There is also a snack bar and weight room.

The Astoria Aquatic Center is located at 1997 Marine Drive. Admission is $3.25 for resident youth (2 to 17 years), $3.50 for nonresident youth; $4.25 for resident adults (18 to 59 years), $4.50 for nonresident adults; $4 for resident seniors (age 60 and older) and $4.25 for nonresident seniors.

EVENTS

Fisher Poets Gathering

Every February, people with ties to the fishing industry gather to share stories, songs, artwork and food with others interested in fishing. The Fisher Poets Gathering features poets, writers, musical groups, art exhibits and workshops. The gathering got off the ground in 1998 and has grown each year. The event is becoming nearly as popular as the Cowboy Poet Gathering in Elko, Nev. This year's gathering is held Feb. 24 to 26 at various venues in downtown Astoria.

Crab and Seafood Festival

Delight in the tastes of fresh crab, seafood and Oregon wines at the Astoria-Warrenton Crab and Seafood Festival, April 28 through 30 at the Clatsop County Fairgrounds.

Sample crab fritters, crab cakes, shrimp and crab cocktails, oyster shooters and crab melts. Still hungry for crab? The traditional crab dinner served by the Astoria Rotary Club promises to satisfy that hunger. The event also features continuous entertainment, children's activities and a petting zoo. More than 200 vendors will offer Oregon wines, food and arts and crafts for a great time for the whole family.

There is free and frequent shuttle service to the festival from your motel or campground. Day care is available. For more information, call (503) 325-6311 or visit the Web site: oldoregon.com

Astoria Sunday Market

Astoria's Sunday Market is a lively and charming demonstration of people's hunger for high-quality Northwest-grown produce, locally made clothing and crafts, and a host of other products with one thing in common – the human touch.

SANDRA SWAIN – The Daily Astorian
Richard Bourne, of Seaside, talks crab race strategy with grandson Bradley Rennock at the 2005 Crab Festival.

In a scene that could be centuries old, vendors set up stalls in the crisp early hours and wait for the street to come alive. A trickle of shoppers becomes a flood of families hot on the trail of tree-ripened peaches and handmade tortillas. The buttery smell of fresh popcorn mingles with the aroma of the season's last fresh strawberries, with the Columbia's cool, pure air wafting through it all.

The Sunday Market boasted more than 200 booths in 2005. Stroll leisurely up and down 12th Street, which is closed off to traffic for the lively festive atmosphere. Live entertainment, along with an international food court, enhance the day's experience. The market is open Sundays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. May 7 through Oct. 1.

Astoria Regatta Festival

The Astoria Regatta has been a tradition since 1894, making it the oldest festival in the Northwest. This five-day celebration Aug. 9 to 12 on Astoria's historic waterfront has something for everyone – sailboat races, concerts, classic cars, softball, ship tours and great food, including a pancake breakfast and salmon barbecue. For more information, call (503) 325-6311 or visit the Web site: astoriaregatta.org

Be part of the Great Columbia Crossing 10K Walk/Run Oct. 8 across the mouth of the Columbia River on the 4.1-mile Astoria Bridge, which is open to pedestrians just once a year for this event. For more information check out the Web site: www.greatcolumbiacrossing.com

Scandinavian Midsummer Festival

The general goodwill of cheerful people is a vital part of this celebration. If you're Scandinavian, the Midsummer Festival offers a chance for you to renew ties with the old country. One doesn't need Scandinavian heritage, however, to get into the spirit of this event. Taste mouth-watering food, listen to beautiful music and shop for handmade crafts.

The featured event on Friday evening is the selection and crowning of Miss Scandinavia. After the coronation, follow Miss Scandinavia and her court to the bonfire to burn hexes for good luck. Dust off your dancing shoes Saturday and polka the night away. The festival will be held at the Clatsop County Fairgrounds, 92937 Walluski Loop, June 17 to 19. THE MOVIES: See the Hollywood sites in Astoria

The beauty of the North Coast draws visitors from all over the world. So, it's no surprise that Hollywood has been using the natural sets of the area as a backdrop for some memorable blockbusters.

The Clatsop County Historical Society offers a tour book of Astoria movie locations.

"The Goonies"

Mention Astoria to a generation of folks who grew up during the 1980s, and often they'll have one response: "The Goonies!"

The much-loved kids' adventure movie, with its treasure maps, villainous counterfeiters, pirate ships and booby traps, was set and filmed in Astoria and Cannon Beach.

Visitors can still see the house where heroes Mikey and Brand lived, at 368 38th St., as well as the county jail and John Warren Field. While Ecola State Park provided the setting for the nefarious Fratellis' restaurant, movie-lovers searching for the run-down building are out of luck – a facade was constructed for the movie, then torn down.

2005 brought the Goonies and around 1,000 fans back to Astoria, with a Chamber of Commerce-sponsored 20th anniversary celebration in June. Sean Astin, who played Mikey, stopped by the Goonies' House to say hi; Jeff Cohen, who played Chunk, met fans and talked about what it was like "Growing up Goonie"; and Curtis Hanson,

LORI ASSA — The Daily Astorian

On his first trip back to the Goonies' house since the movie was filmed, Sean Astin records a message to some Goonies fans Saturday, at the request of Andy Petrou, who helped organize the event.

who was Mr. Perkins, mingled with fans as well.

In August, the Austin, Texas-based Rolling Roadshow made a stop in Astoria to show "The Goonies" on a giant inflatable screen on John Warren Field. Corey Feldman, who played Mouth, returned to Astoria for the screening and to answer questions.

Although rumors of a sequel frequently pop up, as of early 2006, none is in the works. But remember: "Goonies never say die."

"The Ring Two"

DreamWorks filmed the sequel to "The Ring" using Astoria as a backdrop. "The Ring Two," with cheap thrills, a creepy climax and a few good shots of Astoria, opened in 2005. The movie picks up with Rachel Keller (Naomi Watts) and her son, Aidan (David Dorfman), in their new home in Astoria.

The Daily Astorian's name was used, but the film company used the Pacific Coast Medical Supply site at 1210 Marine Drive, for the newspaper's office set.

The thrill of seeing Astoria streets and area landmarks, bolstered by some well-timed scare tactics, is what saves the movie from being just another B production.

"Come See The Paradise"

Only Hollywood would attempt to fly a kite while running on the mudflats of Youngs Bay the way Dennis Quaid did in the 1989 film "Come See The Paradise." The neat thing is we don't have to pay admission to see paradise here on the North Coast. We're already there.

"Kindergarten Cop"

John Jacob Astor Elementary School, 3550 Franklin Ave., was the main location for "Kindergarten Cop," but other scenes were shot at the West End Mooring Basin where the Astoria Red Lion Hotel, 400 Industry St., was the setting for a romantic dinner with Arnold Schwarzenegger and his co-star, Penelope Ann Miller. During filming, The Bayview Motel, 783 W. Marine Drive, was home to Schwarzenegger's character and his partner, Phoebe O'Hara, played by actress Pamela Reed. In the movie, Schwarzenegger stayed in room 5 and Reed in room 6. The interior of the motel rooms were replicated in a Hollywood movie studio.

"Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles III"

One of the hangars at North Tongue Point was made into a sound stage for this movie, and except for some filming done in New York, the entire film was shot here on the North Coast. A Japanese village was built in a clearing near Saddle Mountain, and Fort Stevens State Park was used for some filming.

"Free Willy"

In 1992, the feature film "Free Willy," made use of some of the North Coast's locales. The 14th Street dock in Astoria

"Short Circuit"

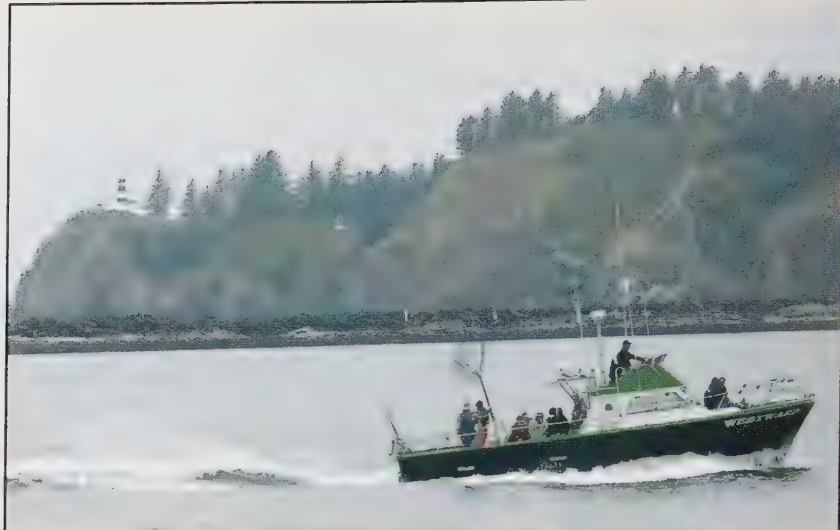

A few robots jumped off the Astoria Bridge in "Short Circuit" and although the house at 197 Hume St. was the home for star Ally Sheedy's character, the majority of the film was shot in The Dalles.

"Cthulhu"

Filmmakers from Arkham Productions in Seattle invaded Astoria in October 2005 to shoot scenes for an independent horror movie, "Cthulhu" (ka-THOOL-hoo). The story was inspired by H.P. Lovecraft's writings in the early 20th century that spawned the horror fiction genre.

Tori Spelling stars in the production. The crew used an art studio, known locally as the "red barn," an old net loft that looms on pilings over the Columbia River at the east end of town.

About 30 local residents were cast, and some were seen emerging as sea creatures along the beach. The film is still in Astoria is not a theme park. In a nation that is increasingly anonymous, Astoria is a very particular place. The town has an abundance of curiosities, nooks and crannies.

The patient observer who walks Astoria's hills in all weather will be rewarded. On sunny days, the town sparkles and you wonder why more people don't live here. On foggy days, the town's magnificent collection of Victorian homes are seen as if through a soft-focus lens. In the rain, walk Astor Street by the river and imagine the Barbary Coast atmosphere that prevailed at the turn of the century, when houses of prostitution dotted the waterfront and sailors were shanghaied from saloons.

Here are some of the town's curiosities:

- On an obscure vacant lot, amidst foliage and beneath a spreading tree, is an obelisk marking the first U.S. post office west of the Rocky Mountains. It is on the east side of 15th Street between Exchange Street and Franklin Avenue.

- In the block at 15th and Exchange streets is the spot where Fort Astoria stood. This is where it all began. Notice the marble marker to Ranald MacDonald at the east side of this lot, with English language on one side and Japanese characters on the other.

- On the northeast corner of the intersection of Exchange and Ninth streets, there is a stone which marks the southern edge of the great Astoria Fire of 1922.

- The Doughboy monument on the south side of the 2100 block of Marine Drive contains the first public restrooms to be placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

- The Astoria Riverfront Trolley is a delightful way to see the town.

- Astoria and the North Coast are home to an astounding array of theatrical and musical talent. Catch a production at the River Theater or see "Shanghaied in Astoria" at the Old Finnish Meat Market. Venture inside the Liberty Theater at Commercial and 12th streets to see the rich decorative plaster in this former vaudeville/motion picture palace.

- A replica of the first U.S. Customs house west of the Rockies stands in the 3300 block of Lief Erickson Drive.

- Get "The Captain's Walking Tour of Downtown Astoria" and the "Pilot's Walking Tour of Downtown Astoria" by Bruce Berney. They are available at the Astoria-Warrenton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Lewis and Clark Bicentennial

By TOM BENNETT
The Daily Astorian

There were no highways, hotels or grocery stores here when Lewis and Clark and their tiny party reached the Pacific Ocean at the end of a 4,000-mile cross-country trek.

But for modern-day visitors, it's still not too difficult to find a quiet stretch of beach, a lonely headland or peaceful meadow where, with a little imagination, they can cast themselves back two centuries and see the landscape much as those intrepid explorers found it.

The Lewis and Clark saga is woven deep into the fabric of North Coast history, and the 200th anniversary of the Corps of Discovery's arrival has brought new attention to the story and the settings where it all took place, inspiring the creation of a new national park and several attractions illuminating their story.

This year sees not only the culmination of the local Lewis and Clark Bicentennial commemoration, but also the dedication of the "new" Fort Clatsop, the replica of Lewis and Clark's winter encampment built to replace the 50-year-old fort that was destroyed by an accidental fire last year.

Sent westward by President Thomas Jefferson to explore the continent as far as the Pacific Ocean, Captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark and the other 31 members of their party were undertaking an endeavor as ambitious in its day as the Apollo moon mission. In its year-and-a-half journey west, the group made contact with several Native American tribes, discovered many previously unknown plant and animal species and helped strengthen the claim of a fledgling United States to the Pacific Northwest.

BY THE DAILY ASTORIAN READERS

After a relatively easy paddle down the lower Columbia River in their dugout canoes, the party reached a campsite on the north shore at Pillar Rock, just upstream from present-day Astoria, where on Nov. 7, 1805 Clark's journal entry – "Great joy in camp we are in View of the Ocian" – revealed the group's happiness at the apparent end of their mission. But Clark was mistaken – the party was still about 20 miles from the mouth of the river, and the next few days would test the explorers as they struggled down that last stretch through a series of fierce winter storms.

After several perilous days virtually stranded on the north shore of the river at a site Clark dubbed a "dismal nitch," on Nov. 15, the Corps reached a sandy beach it christened Station Camp, just east of present-day Chinook, Wash., where the group, finally "in full view of the Ocian," declared its mission fulfilled. After polling the members, including Sacagawea and Clark's slave York, the captains decided to find an encampment on the south side of the river where the party could spend the winter before beginning its return journey.

Fort Clatsop, named for the local Clatsop Indian tribe, was the Corps' home during the long, wet winter from late December to March. The crude log structure near the bank of a small river provided the explorers shelter from the rain, damp and cold as they replaced their tattered clothing, explored the surrounding area and made detailed observations of the area's plants, wildlife and native inhabitants.

The original Fort Clatsop succumbed to the elements not long after the explorers' departure, but the site of their encampment soon became a sight-seeing draw for local settlers. In 1955 local community members built a replica of the fort that became a Northwest icon and the centerpiece of Fort Clatsop National Memorial.

The fire that destroyed the beloved fort in October 2005 shocked and saddened local residents and Lewis and Clark enthusiasts across the country, but even as logs still smoldered the park and community members began making plans for the fort to rise again.

The new Fort Clatsop, built with volunteer help and based on new research into the original fort's appearance, is due to be completed by late spring 2006. It will again host interpreters, in authentic dress, portraying actual members of the party for visitors and giving demonstrations of frontier survival skills. The adjacent visitor center offers films and displays about the expedition and the local Native Americans who hosted them.

In 2004 Fort Clatsop park, in Warrenton, became part of the new Lewis and Clark National and State Historical Parks. The new two-state, multisite park encompasses historic sites and attractions that illuminate the entire story of the explorers' arrival and stay at the mouth of the Columbia River.

• Clark's "Dismal Nitch" – A vicious winter storm stranded the party on a tiny piece of shoreline, for almost a week in November 1805. It is one mile east of the Astoria Bridge on Washington State Route 4. The site is commemorated today with an interpretive sign at the nearby Megler Rest Area.

• Fort to Sea Trail – After the party picked the location for its winter quarters in December 1805, Capt. Clark led a group of men westward from the fort to find a usable route to the ocean and a site where they hoped to set up a camp for extracting salt from seawater.

The new six-mile trail follows the general route blazed by Clark from Fort Clatsop, crossing over forested hills, pastures and waterways and ending at Sunset Beach.

- Salt cairn – A group of men from the expedition set up camp at present-day Seaside to boil seawater for salt, an important ingredient for preserving meat. A replica of the salt-works is located on Lewis and Clark Way in Seaside.

- Ecola State Park – Capt. Clark led a party over Tillamook Head to present-day Cannon Beach to trade with local Indians for oil and blubber from a beached whale. The park offers dramatic views of the Pacific shoreline, just north of Cannon Beach, and includes the new Clatsop Loop Trail that retraces a section of the route the explorers walked.

- Cape Disappointment State Park – Several members of the expedition hiked over the scenic bluffs of this coastal landmark in Ilwaco, Wash., where they watched “with astonishment the high waves dashing against the rocks.” The park’s Lewis and Clark Interpretive Center, perched on a rocky bluff overlooking the mouth of the Columbia River, was recently renovated and expanded, and contains fascinating displays not only of the Lewis and Clark saga but also the region’s Native American tribes, 19th-century military installations, shipwrecks and other local history.

- Fort Stevens State Park – The Clatsop Indians, who traded with Lewis and Clark during their stay at Fort Clatsop, had a village at Point Adams. The village site, marked today by a cedar longhouse, is one of many attractions at this 3,200-acre park in Warrenton includes historic coastal artillery installations, camping sites, hiking and bike-riding trails and the wreck of the sailing ship Peter Iredale.

- Fort Columbia State Park – Lewis and Clark hiked over this headland as they explored the north shore of the Columbia River, just east of Chinook, Wash. Batteries, guns and barracks from the coastal artillery installation constructed there in the late 1800s are open to the public.

WARRENTON AREA SITES

Cullaby Lake

Looking for the choice location to water-ski on the North Coast? Go to Cullaby Lake. Beginning kayakers, canoers and sail boarders, don’t despair. The lake is also a good site for you. You’ll also find picnic, volleyball, fishing, hiking and horseshoes facilities, plus a boat dock at the lake. Gear and accessories are available from rental shops in Warrenton and Astoria. To get to Cullaby Lake, head south on U.S. Highway 101 toward Seaside. Just past Warrenton, signs mark the Cullaby Lake turnoff on the left side of the road.

Youngs River Falls

Follow Lewis and Clark’s footsteps on the trail to the 65-foot waterfall. Once there, relax and enjoy a picnic. The trail to the waterfall has been improved with the addition of steps.

Interpretive panels at the site tell the story of the Corps of Discovery.

To visit Youngs River Falls, travel east on Oregon Highway 202 to Olney and turn right at the sign directing you to the nearby waterfall.

WARRENTON EVENTS

Annual Crab Feed

Warrenton has an annual Crab Feed in January and is a co-sponsor of the Astoria-Warrenton Crab and Seafood Festival held April 28-30 this year at the Clatsop County Fairgrounds.

STAY AT FORT STEVENS

Leave your RV or car at your campsite and ride the Lewis and Clark Explorer Shuttle.

From June 12 through September 4 shuttle service connects hourly with Fort Clatsop, Fort Stevens campground (and other campgrounds in Warrenton), and the Fort To Sea Trailhead at Sunset Beach.

Parking is limited at Fort Clatsop, so the best way to visit is on the Lewis and Clark Explorer Shuttle.

Warrenton

If you're looking for a chance to relax while savoring the beauty of the Oregon Coast, visit Warrenton. Warrenton preserves its small-town quiet in the midst of busy marinas, recreational areas and historical attractions. Campers – from recreational vehicle owners to the bike and tent variety – can find a place to stay in Warrenton, at Fort Stevens State Park or one of the nearby private establishments. Fort Stevens has a yurt village available for overnight rentals.

At Fort Clatsop National Memorial a new replica of the fort built by the Lewis and Clark expedition is being built to replace the one that burned in 2005. The explorers camped there in the winter of 1805-06.

Fort Stevens

Fort Stevens State Park possesses fascinating military history. In 1862, Union soldiers stood watch over the mouth of the Columbia River from Fort Stevens. Eighty years later, on the night of June 21, 1942, Fort Stevens gained distinction as the only military installation in the continental United States to have been fired on since the War of 1812. A Japanese submarine roaming offshore that night fired 17 shells at the fort. There was no damage inflicted, and Fort Stevens did not fire back.

The park includes 20th century gun batteries and an excellent history museum. Every summer, historical reenactment groups put on battles and maneuvers sure to thrill military enthusiasts.

Hike or bike on one of the park's numerous trails through groves of trees and miles of sand dunes.

Don't miss the Peter Iredale shipwreck, the skeleton of a British bark that ran aground in 100 years ago in 1906.

Fort Clatsop

Fort Clatsop is one of the North Coast's most popular historic attractions. It is part of the Lewis & Clark National Historical Park that was formed in 2005 to include historic sites in Oregon and Washington where members of the Lewis and Clark Expedition explored.

Living history demonstrations will take place in summer, in which park rangers dress in buckskins, to show what life might have been like for those early explorers.

There are exhibits with several Lewis and Clark-era artifacts inside the memorial. Outside there is a picnic area and hiking trails.

See Lewis and Clark Bicentennial on pages 26 to 28, for more information.

Fishermen's Memorial Lighthouse Park

At the main intersection in downtown Warrenton is Lighthouse Park. This park stands in memorial to the men and women who worked in the fishing industry. A huge rusty anchor used in the 1860s, netted by a fisherman 12 miles off Tillamook Head, and a mid-20th century mounted harpoon gun, complement the little lighthouse. The interpretive center houses artifacts, photos and artwork chronicling decades of fishing off the mouth of the Columbia River. For more information, call (503) 861-7225.

Warrenton Waterfront Trail

Walk at a leisurely pace along the four-mile trail for the chance to see the Columbia River Estuary and many of the town's chief industries. Try to spot some of the wildlife that call the region home. This flat trail can be reached at various points along Warrenton's waterfront.

Pick up a pamphlet, with a map of the trail, at the Astoria-Warrenton Area Chamber of Commerce Visitor Center, located in the parking lot of Youngs Bay Plaza, along U.S. Highway 101.

See other Warrenton attractions and events on page 29.

Union soldiers march toward the battle field at the Civil War Re-enactment at Fort Stevens State Park in Warrenton on Labor Day weekend. The green flag represents the Irish Brigade.

Gearhart

Gearhart is situated on dunes beside the Pacific Ocean, 14 miles south of Astoria. The Necanicum River Estuary divides it from Seaside to the south. Its quiet residential streets are lined with grand old vacation houses, many reminiscent of East Coast beach communities.

Historic buildings

Rare or unique buildings abound in Gearhart and have been recorded with the state using an intensive inventory.

- The livery stable on Pacific Way was likely one of the first structures built in the city in 1910. Stables of such age are extremely rare, as they usually disappeared when cars replaced horses, but Gearhart's remained and was used for James Nicol's riding academy until 1960.

- The Trail's End Art Center is located at 656 A St., in a two-room schoolhouse dating back to 1902. In the early 1950s, a small group of artists turned it into an art center. Monthly shows highlight the works of the Trail's End Art Association's members. The gallery offers works for sale and art classes. The gallery is open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. For information, call (503) 717-9458.

- Gearhart's former railroad station stands behind the Dairy Queen at the intersection of Pacific Way and U.S. Highway 101. Beside the store is the historic home of William Badger – the first black elected official in Oregon, a member of the Gearhart City Council in the 1920s.

Golf in Gearhart

Gearhart Golf Links has a long heritage as one of the state's premiere golf venues. The course is of Scottish links design, such as pot-style bunkers, mounding and beach grass. Gearhart Golf Links is located on North Marion Avenue in Gearhart. The course is 6,218 yards with a par 72. For more information, call (503) 738-3538.

Seaside

Kites fly on the beach high above a statue of Lewis and Clark at the Turnaround in Seaside.

LORI ASSA — The Daily Astorian

HIT THE BEACH

Life at the beach doesn't get much better than Seaside. The oceanside getaway stretches between the ruggedly majestic Tillamook Head and the mouths of the meandering Necanicum River and Neawanna Creek, a grand beach and fun-loving town.

Lining the Pacific Ocean is the Prom, a two-mile walkway built in the 1920s. Beach-goers and frolicsome families have gravitated to Seaside for generations, sauntering along Broadway and other streets amid the scent of salt water taffy to sample the shops, restaurants and recreation.

Lewis and Clark Salt Works

The Salt Works in Seaside marks the site where the Lewis and Clark expedition set up a camp and boiled sea water to obtain salt for use at the fort and on the return journey to St. Louis.

The salt cairn display is located near the Prom at Lewis and Clark Way, south of the Turnaround.

The salt works in Seaside was crucial to the early explorers, who used salt to cure meat. Altogether, members of the expedition ate about 10 pounds of meat per day — equal to dining on 40 quarter-pound hamburgers!

Seaside Museum

Exhibits reflect the attitude of the Seaside Museum and Historical Society's theme: "Seaside has long been a place to live, work and play."

View a large collection of photographs portraying the town's history in the making. Especially fascinating are the changing scenes (and names) of Broadway. Beautiful hotels, an indoor ocean-water pool and businesses have come and gone along the street. Even earlier pictures depict the road as not much more than a dirt path with a few houses and campsites along its sides.

Adjacent to the museum building is the Butterfield Cottage, constructed in 1893. It has been interpretively restored to depict a beach cottage and rooming house of 1912.

The museum, 570 Necanicum Drive, (503) 738-7065, is open in winter from noon to 3 p.m. daily and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in summer. Admission is $3 for adults, $2 for seniors, $1 for students and free for children younger than 6.

Seaside Aquarium

The Seaside Aquarium, located at the end of Second Avenue and North Promenade (about two blocks north of the Seaside Turnaround), is a landmark in this seaside town. Built in the 1920s, the structure housing the aquarium was used as a large saltwater swimming pool and converted to an aquarium in 1937.

Visitors enjoy the "Discovery Center" with its hands-on open tank that allows them to touch starfish and anemones.

The Seaside Aquarium is the first in the world to successfully breed harbor seals – and a favorite attraction for the younger set is the seal-feeding tank. The seals have developed different calls and behavior to convince you to throw a morsel their way. Admission is charged. Open daily at 9 a.m. For more information, call (503) 738-6211.

Sunset Pool

The Sunset Empire Park and Recreation District, 1140 Broadway, offers residents and visitors alike myriad opportunities to stretch the mind and body.

The district includes the Sunset Pool, an indoor, heated swimming pool with a play slide. Family and open swims are offered throughout the week.

The district also programs a variety of activities at the Community Center, Senior Center and the Seaside Youth Center.

The Seaside Youth Center runs a drop-in program for youth ages 6 to 19 offering billiards, ping pong, electronic games, computer access, programmed activities, movies and a popular summer camp for youngsters.

Enjoy a workout at the new fitness room or drop in on a circuit training class. Expect a new skate park in the summer of 2006 or use the temporary one until then.

The Promenade and Turnaround

In the center of town, Broadway's lively shops, arcades and treat stores leads to Seaside's Turnaround at the beach. With its magnificent view of the Pacific Ocean and a statue of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark that commemorates the explorers' historic expedition, the Turnaround is the epicenter of Seaside.

Intersecting the turnaround is the popular Promenade, two miles of paved walkway past grand Seaside homes on one side and gorgeous dunes and beach views on the other. Walkers, runners and sweethearts out for a stroll all

Clam Digging

If you enjoy the taste of razor clams, grab a shovel or clam gun and head down to the beach at low tide. Look for minus tides on spring mornings or fall evenings. The Oregon limit for razor clams is 15 and a license is required from the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife, available at numerous retail stores. Before you dig in Oregon, call (503) 986-4728. In Washington, call (800) 562-5632.

EVENTS

Seaside Beach Volleyball Tournament

Thousands of volleyball enthusiasts will gather in Seaside Aug. 11 to 13 for a regional beach volleyball tournament. Professionals battle in fierce competition while yards away highly-ranked amateurs play.

There are yards of comfy sand where visitors can put down a blanket and get a front-row seat to the action. In addition to the games, you can catch spiking and serving competitions. Just a warning – these folks play hard and a player diving into the crowd or sending a smoking volleyball careening onto a spectator's beach blanket is a common sight.

When not used for tournaments, several sand volleyball courts are available in the summer for casual pickup games or friendly team rivalries.

Seaside Hood to Coast Relay

The Hood to Coast run is billed as the largest relay race in the world. It covers a grueling course with teams of 12 racing around the clock to the finish line. The race covers 195 miles from Mount Hood to Seaside. Related events include the Portland to Coast Walk, a 126-mile relay, and the Portland to Coast High School Challenge, a 125-mile relay intended for those 18 and younger. There's always a big party at the finish line at the beach in Seaside.

Hood to Coast takes place Aug. 26. For more information about the race, go to the Hood to Coast Web site, htc.nationwide.com/htc

North Coast claim to fame

Largest Sitka spruce

Purported to be the largest of its species in the world, a baronial Sitka spruce tree draws more than 95,000 people a year to Kloutchy Creek County Park. When last measured in 1973, the tree was 52 feet, 6 inches in circumference and 216 feet tall with a 93-foot crown spread.

The Columbus Day Storm of 1962 blew off the top of the tree. A lightning bolt in the early 1970s left a scar partway up the trunk. Estimated to be 400 years old, the spruce shows its age.

On a beautiful summer day, easily 1,000 people drop by the park along U.S. Highway 26, five miles east of Seaside. Even in the winter months, the park draws many local fishermen who come to dip their lines in the Necanicum River.

Cannon Beach

LORI ASSA — The Daily Astorian

During the pink and blue moments just after sunset, a couple walks at Cannon Beach.

Sandcastles, art and adventure await

The coastal village of Cannon Beach has been known through the West as an artists' colony. Dominating the town and inspiring awe in tourists and residents is the magnificent monolith, Haystack Rock, accompanied by a two-mile swath of beach.

On a typical summer weekend, kites brighten the sky with their rainbow colors while beachcombers hunt for treasures. Throngs of shoppers find unusual gifts, distinctive fashions and unique works of art in dozens of shops and galleries along the flower-filled downtown streets.

Haystack Rock

A must-see for visitors and artists in Cannon Beach is the town's famed Haystack Rock right on the beach, the world's third largest monolith at 235 feet.

The other monoliths near Haystack Rock are called the Needles.

Keep a lookout for Cannon Beach's unofficial mascot who loves to nest on Haystack Rock during the summer: the tufted puffin. The black birds have orange bills and white feathers above their eyes appearing in tufts.

Another popular feature at Haystack Rock is its tide pools of starfish, anemone and little crabs. Summer programs are offered for visitors. Haystack Rock is a federally-designated marine garden and its sea life is protected — visitors are not allowed to remove life forms or climb on the rocks.

Ecola State Park

Just north of Cannon Beach, Ecola State Park is a prime spot for whale watching and picnics. The great expanse of Oregon rain forest in the park is laced with trails and stunning views of the Pacific Ocean, Cannon Beach, Haystack Rock and the Tillamook Rock Lighthouse. Ecola State Park is a good bird-watching site and interpretive signs describe the bird species that thrive here — puffins, herons, murres and cormorants.

The park has restrooms, picnic tables and barbecue facilities. It's a day-use only state park, and there is an entrance fee.

EVENTS

Kite Festival

The 19th Annual Puffin Kite Festival April 19 reminds visitors to recapture the childhood fun of flying kites. The event features all sorts and shapes of kites, flying contests, workshops, demonstrations, children's activities, prizes and good eats, including a weenie roast. For more information, call the Cannon Beach Chamber of Commerce at (503) 436-2623.

Stormy Weather Arts Festival

Each November a bit of magic happens in Cannon Beach. The town transforms into a festival of creativity filled with live music and art. This long-standing community celebration is the perfect way to usher in the coming winter. This year's event is Nov. 3-5.

The Stormy Weather Arts Festival, the first weekend in November, offers a deluge of artistic and musical talent. There will be live music in shops, galleries and restaurants all over town. The many events include the "Quick Draw and Auction," musical concerts and demonstrations by local artists.

For more information, call (503) 436-2623, or visit the Information Center in Cannon Beach, at the corner of Second and Spruce streets.

Sandcastle Day

The Cannon Beach Chamber of Commerce sponsors the 42nd Annual Sandcastle Day June 17. Be prepared to view sea monsters emerging from the deep, glorious castles and imaginative creatures as builders from around the country converge on the beach to prove their skills. From the elementary to the professional, all enjoy this event, whether sculpting or viewing.

Tillamook County

Perhaps best known for its delectable cheddar cheese, Tillamook is a place of unsurpassed beauty, providing countless opportunities for visitors to explore, hike, camp or shop.

TILLAMOOK Tillamook Cheese Visitor's Center

For nearly 100 years, award-winning cheeses have been produced by the Tillamook County Creamery Association.

The Tillamook Cheese Visitor's Center, 4175 U.S. Highway 101 N., is a showcase for a long list of products, as well as an education in the creamery's history and cheesemaking.

Free, self-guided tours feature video presentations, historical displays and interactive kiosks. The upstairs observation areas provide viewing into the cheesemaking room and Tillamook's packaging line. Make sure you stop by the sample counter for a taste of several varieties of cheese.

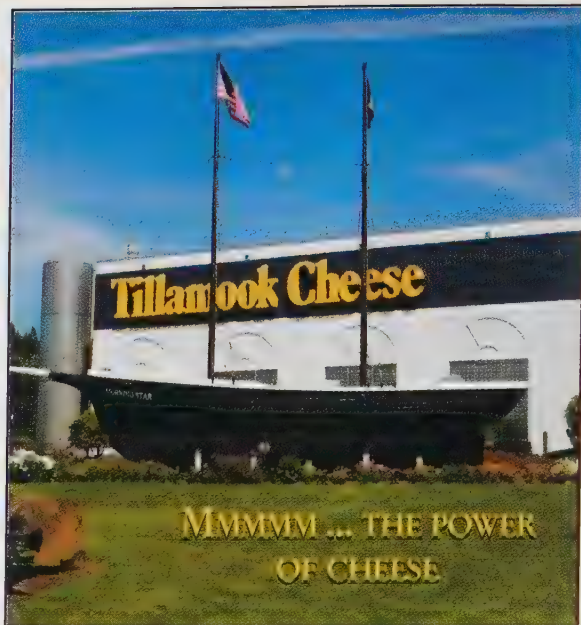

The Visitor's Center also provides cheese, gift and gourmet shops, the Farmhouse Café for breakfast or lunch and Tillamook ice cream at the dipping counter – in a freshly baked waffle cone.

Open daily 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in summer and 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. during winter. Closed Thanksgiving and Christmas. Free. For more information, call (503) 815-1300 or (800) 542-7290 or visit the Web site: www.tillamookcheese.com

Tillamook Air Museum

Captivate your spirit with the collection of war planes and other aircraft at the Tillamook Naval Air Station Museum. Specializing in the planes of World War II, the collection features rare aircraft that still fly. The massive World War II blimp hangar housing the collection is the largest wooden building in the world.

The Tillamook Air Museum is located two miles south of Tillamook, near U.S. 101 at 6030 Hangar Road. For more

Tillamook Pioneer Museum

The Tillamook Pioneer Museum, established in 1935, brims with more than 35,000 artifacts.

See a replica of the stump house Tillamook's first white settler lived in after he arrived by whaleboat in 1851.

The sheriff's vault contains a large gun collection, including a 6-pound cannon ball. It is believed Capt. Robert Gray fired this when he entered Tillamook Bay in 1788.

The last stagecoach to make the mail run from Tillamook to Yamhill in 1911 is in the basement. Also tucked into the basement is a blacksmith shop, a replica of a kitchen, washing machines, cameras, radios, typewriters and, of course, cheese-making equipment.

The museum is located at 2106 Second St. Admission is $3 for adults, $2.50 for seniors. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. The museum is closed Sundays, Mondays and major holidays. For more information, call (503) 842-4553.

Garibaldi Museum

Situated in a post-and-beam constructed building with cathedral ceilings and stained glass windows, the museum tells the story of Capt. Robert Gray and the maritime history of the Pacific Northwest. In 1792, Gray discovered the Columbia River and named it after his ship.

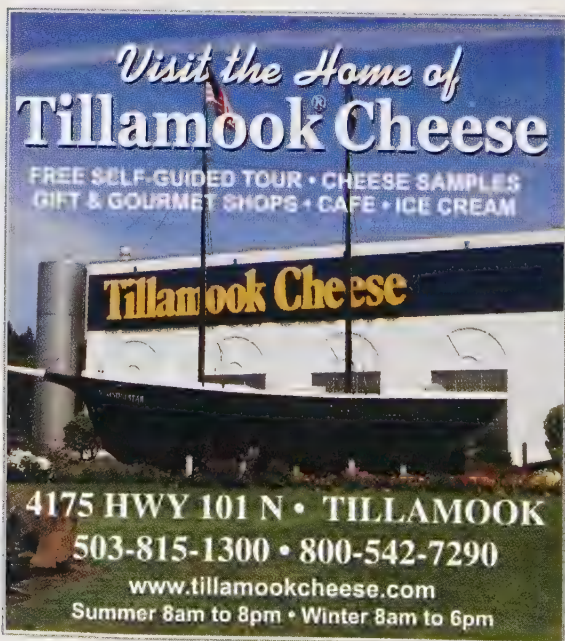

The museum displays reproductions of the Columbia and Lady Washington and navigation instruments. A collection of photographs of shipwrecks as well as artifacts from the Far East are on display.

The museum is located at 112 Garibaldi Ave., Garibaldi. Hours are noon to 4 p.m. Thursday through Sunday from July 1 to Sept. 30. General admission is $2. For information, call (503) 322-8411 or visit: www.garibaldimuseum.com

Nehalem

Nestled in a lush green valley, the historic town of Nehalem sits on the edge of the Nehalem River. Incorporated as a town in 1899, Nehalem has retained its historic charm as well as the natural beauty. Downtown, many of the building facades are reminiscent of the store fronts seen in movies about cowboys in the Old West.

The Nehalem Antique and Collectible Mall on the north end of town is akin to a small museum where everything is for sale. The phone number is (503) 368-7190.

On the south side of town, the Nehalem Dock Restaurant has a big deck overlooking the Nehalem River.

Nehalem Bay State Park lies to the north of town. For more information, call (503) 368-5154 or (800) 551-6949.

Events

Arts and Crafts Fair

The Nehalem Bay Arts and Crafts Fair is held in July. Local craftsmen and artists sell everything from finely glazed pottery, to landscape photography of regional attractions and furniture inspired from driftwood.

Winery events

The Nehalem Bay Winery hosts events throughout the year. The winery is at 34965 Oregon Highway 53, (503) 368-WINE, www.nehalembaywinery.com

For information about the town of Nehalem, the chamber of commerce can be contacted at (877) 368-5100, or at www.nehalembaychamber.com. The chamber of commerce is at 425 Nehalem Blvd. in nearby Wheeler.

MANZANITA

For a little rest and relaxation, consider Manzanita, a quiet and quaint seaside village still sleepy but slowly awakening.

You'll find Manzanita (the name means "little apple" in Spanish) 13 miles south of Cannon Beach. As you leave Cannon Beach heading south on U.S. Highway 101, you will pass through the Arch Cape Tunnel and Oswald West State Park. Shortly after, prepare for a splendid view. High above on Neahkahnie Mountain, the village winks from below as the blue ocean spreads out endlessly.

Wind your way down the mountain into Manzanita, founded in 1946, and be sure to stop and explore. Revel in the surf and solitude. The nearly 800 year-round residents, including many artists, enjoy the laid-back atmosphere.

Manzanita Beach

Manzanitans are very proud of their white-sand, pristine Manzanita Beach, which stretches seven miles from the base of Neahkahnie Mountain to the Nehalem Bay jetty at the south, where seals are apt to bark a greeting from the rocks.

Area Marinas

Astoria

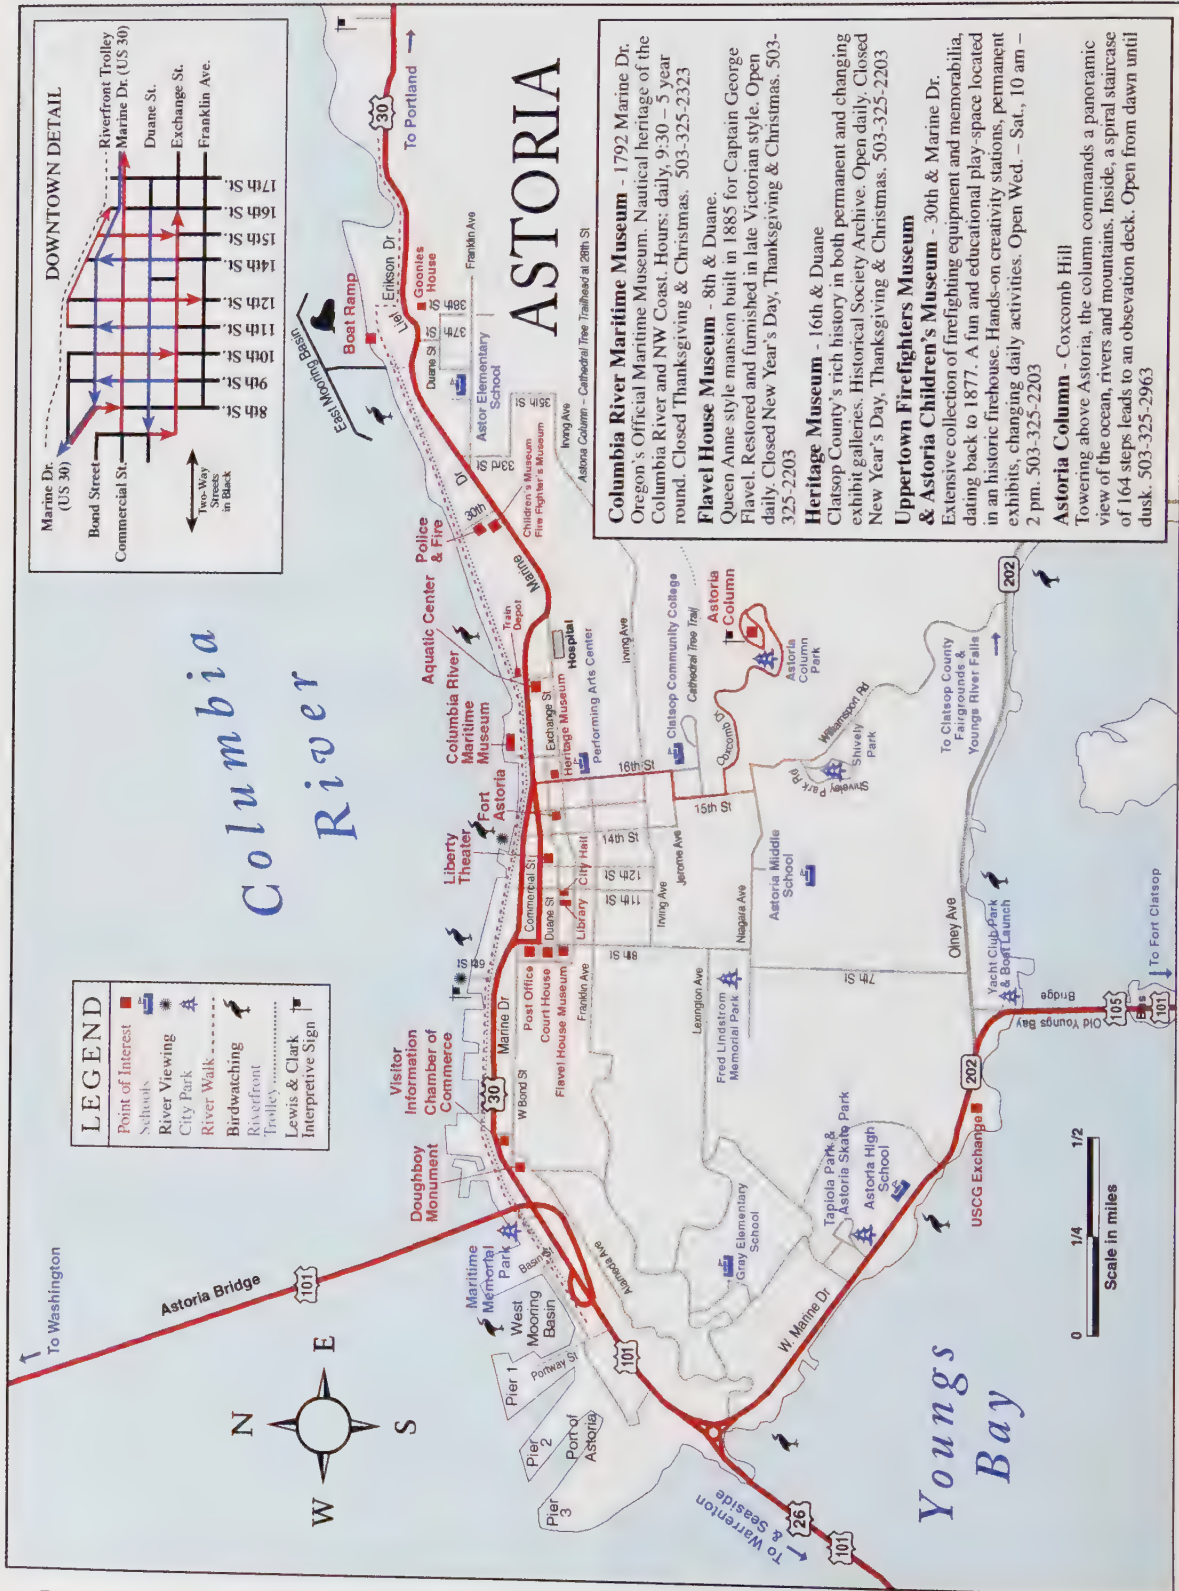

The Port of Astoria was the first deep-draft port on the Columbia River and has served the needs of the maritime industry since 1910.

The Port of Astoria offers boaters two mooring options – the West and East basins – located 14 and 15.6 miles, respectively, from the mouth of the Columbia River.

Both marinas are less than a mile from historic downtown Astoria.

town Astoria. In addition to taxi and bus service, the Astoria Riverfront Trolley provides a unique transportation option to the downtown area, with its many shops and restaurants. For those who prefer to stretch their legs, a paved Riverwalk extends along the river front between the marinas and downtown.

Both the East and West Basins offer year-round, monthly or daily moorage for recreational and commercial craft up to 100 feet.

Haul-out and boatyard facilities are adjacent to the West Basin at the Marine Service Center. An 88-Ton TravelLift can accommodate most recreational and commercial vessels. Short-term or long-term trailer or vessel storage is available at the Port's 10.5 -acre boatyard.

For more information view the Port's website at www.portofastoria.com or contact the Harbormaster office: (503) 325-8279 or the port's main office at (503) 325-4521.

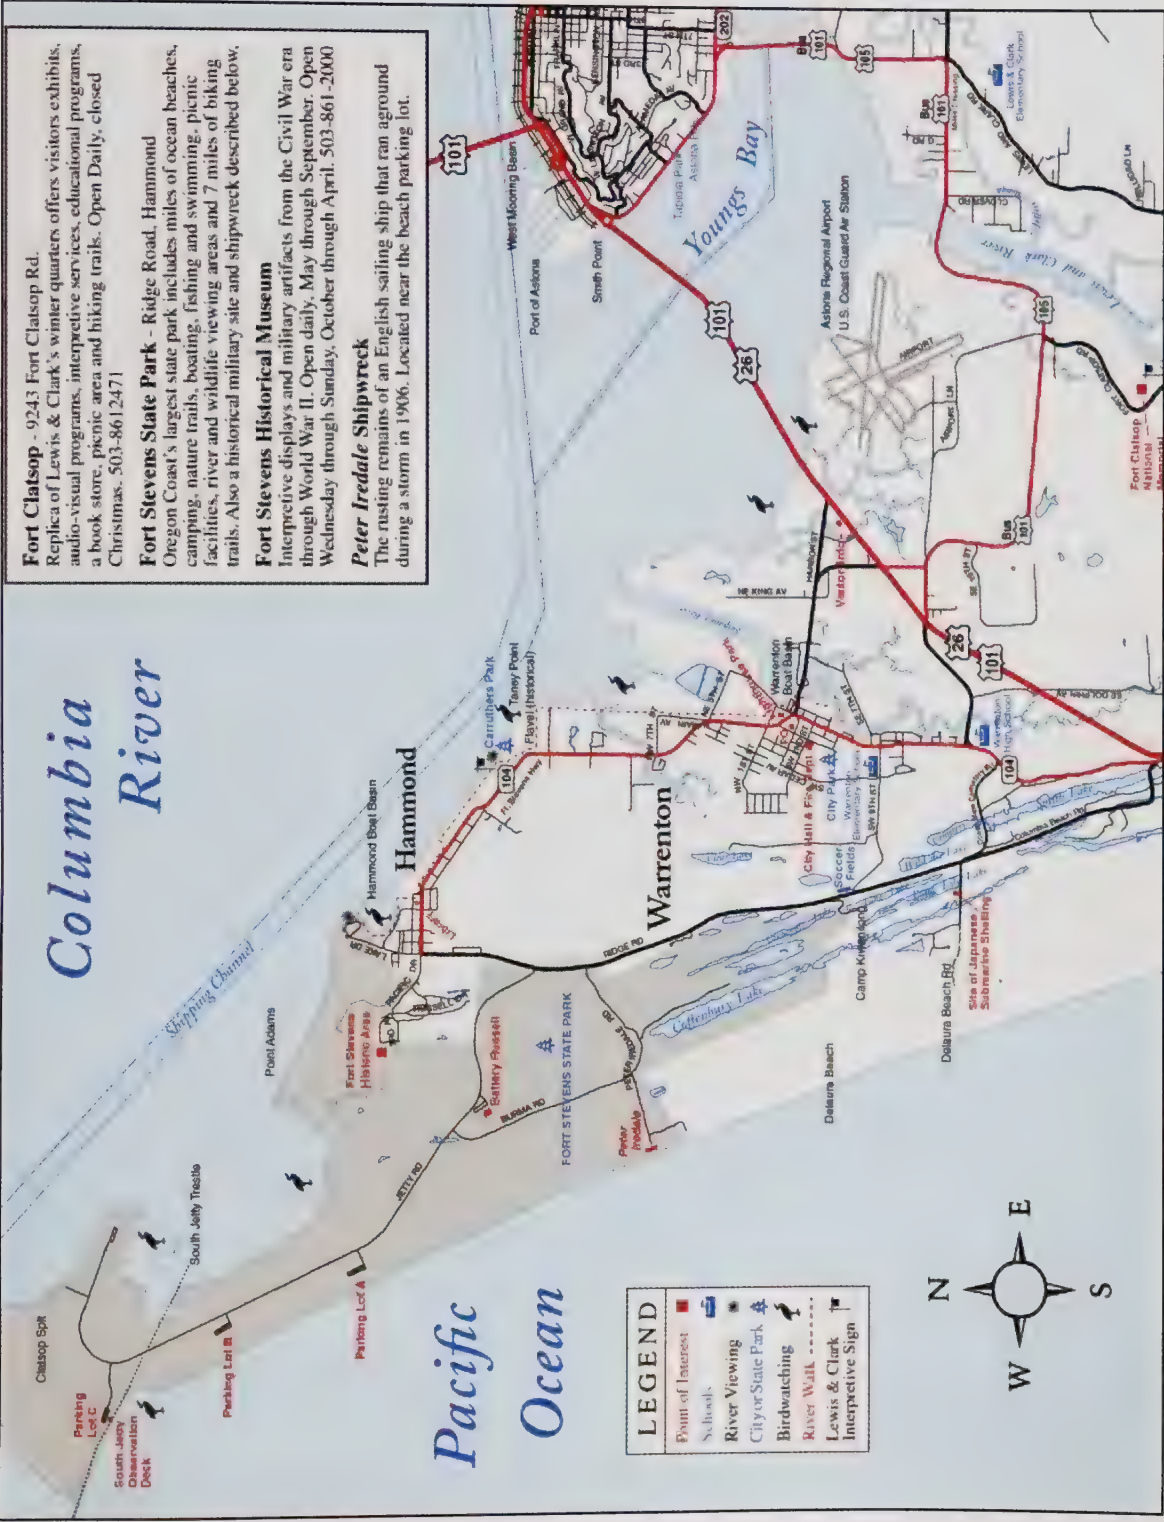

Warrenton

The Warrenton Marina is located at 550 N.E. Harbor

Place. The facilities include restrooms, showers and a fish cleaning station. The marina contains 370 slips and offers overnight moorage for commercial and recreational vessels. For more information, call (503) 861-3822.

Hammond

The Hammond Marina is located at 1080 Iredale St. Facilities include a new four-boat launch ramp, a fuel dock facility, parking for 400-plus visitors, a restroom with showers, a picnic area and overnight stays for self-contained campers. The marina contains 140 slips and offers overnight moorage for both commercial and recreational vessels. For more information, call (503) 861-3197.

The Long Beach Peninsula is a finger of land, with a sandy beach and the mighty Pacific Ocean on one side and Willapa Bay on the inland side.

Stroll the boardwalk and listen to the song of the gulls. Smell the tangy salt air and draw in the beauty of a sunset.

Cape Disappointment Historic District

The Cape Disappointment Historic District's scenic loop offers sights of Cape Disappointment State Park, the Lewis and Clark Interpretive Center, North Head and Cape Disappointment lighthouses, the North Jetty and Waikiki Beach. The park, formerly Fort Canby, was built in the 1860s to help guard the Columbia River's entrance. Camping, hiking and biking are available. For more information, call (360) 642-3078 or (800) 562-0990. For general information on Washington State Parks call (800) 233-0321.

The Lewis and Clark Interpretive Center is located on top of two silent gun emplacements. The center offers a breathtaking view of the Columbia River, as well as a pictorial display of the Lewis and Clark expedition.

Cape Disappointment State Park

The North Head and Cape Disappointment lighthouses are both in the state park in Ilwaco. Hawaii isn't the only place with a Waikiki Beach. The peninsula has one, too. You'll find it in the state park. It's a favorite place to picnic, and it is also a relatively safe swimming spot. For more information, call (360) 642-3029.

For Washington State Park information, call (888) 226-7688 or go online to www.parks.wa.gov

Station Camp

Lewis and Clark's Corps of Discovery camped for 10 days at Station Camp on the Columbia River east of Chinook, Wash. A park is being developed by the Washington State Historical Society to commemorate the stay and the Chinook Indians who inhabited the area for hundreds of years. This is where the famous vote of the expedition took place, deciding that winter camp would be made on the Oregon side of the Columbia.

The Boardwalk

The Boardwalk is a boon to visitors who don't want to, or are unable to, walk on the soft beach sand. Dusk is no reason to head back to your hotel or camper as the Boardwalk is illuminated with small lights. Several information sites along the Boardwalk offer illustrations and narratives on birds of the area, shipwreck locations and local history.

Restrooms, free parking and access to the Dune Trail are located at either end of the Boardwalk.

Discovery Trail

The Discovery Trail linking Long Beach, Seaview and Ilwaco is the Peninsula's premier hiking and biking trail. The trail follows the route taken in 1805 by William Clark through the forest and along the sand dunes that skirt the Pacific Ocean. Markers have been placed along the trail—a gray whale skeleton, a basalt monolith, a sculpture of Clark overlooking a sturgeon and Clark's Tree, with the inscription he carved into a pine etched into the bronze replica. Most of the path is paved.

Long Beach Kite Museum

The World Kite Museum & Hall of Fame houses a collection of more than 1,300 kites, donated by kite enthusiasts from all over the world. The collection includes the initial gift of 700 Japanese, Chinese and Malaysian kites.

Visitors will also see displays paying homage to international kite designers and flyers.

The museum is located at Third Street and Pacific Highway. Winter hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday through Monday. May through September, the museum is open 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Admission is charged. For more information, call (360) 642-4020.

Cranberry museum

You've probably tasted cranberry juice or munched on dried cranberries, but have you ever wondered how cranberries are grown and harvested?

Visit the Long Beach Cranberry Research Station and learn all about cranberries. See old-time harvesting tools and equipment, like bog boots. These snowshoe hybrids perched the wearer several inches above berry vines. Watch the harvests taking place at the research bog at the end of October. The station, museum and shop are on Pioneer Road off Sandridge Road and Pacific Highway. The research bogs are open dawn to dusk. The museum and gift shop are open April-December. Admission is free. For more information, call (360) 642-5553.

Fort Columbia

The U.S. Army built the fort in the late 19th century, with Fort Canby, now called Cape Disappointment State Park, in Washington and Fort Stevens in Oregon, to defend the coast against possible invaders. Three batteries armed the fort – the first was Battery Ord, named for a lieutenant killed in the Spanish-American War. It was completed in 1898. The other batteries are Crenshaw and Murphy.

Restored buildings and historical displays provide a glimpse into the fort's military era. The original barracks and commanding officer's house still stand, along with some of the other buildings on officers' row. The enlisted men's barracks at Fort Columbia serve as a historical interpretive center.

Recreational facilities are limited to short trails and picnic tables below the upper gun battery. Although the park fronts the Columbia River, steep bluffs prevent access to the water.

Fort Columbia is on U.S. Highway 101, two miles south-east of Chinook, Wash., at the west end of the highway tunnel. There are 26 picnic sites, restrooms and parking, but no camping. For more information, call (360) 642-3078 or (360) 777-8221.

Ilwaco Heritage Museum

In November 2004, the Ilwaco Heritage Museum opened the exhibit, "Don't Bother Me With the Facts: Uses and Abuses of the Lewis & Clark Theme in Popular Culture." The exhibition has three components, souvenirs and memorabilia; ia; commemorative connections; and information and history. It includes memorabilia and souvenirs from many of the centennial, sesquicentennial and bicentennial commemorations.

This exhibit and more await visitors to the Ilwaco Heritage Museum, 115 S.E. Lake St. in Ilwaco, Wash.. The museum is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday during the winter, with the addition of noon to 4 p.m. Sundays, beginning April 1.

Admission is $5 for adults (ages 18 to 54), $4 for seniors, 55 or older, $2 for children 12 to 17, $1 for children 6 to 11 and free for children younger than 6. For more information, call (360) 642-3446.

EVENTS

Garlic Festival

Do you love garlic? You'll be in ecstasy at the annual Northwest Garlic Festival June 17-18. Sample garlic oysters, garlic-smothered sausages, chocolate-covered garlic, garlic jam and try garlic ice cream. Live music will entertain you as you shop for garlic memorabilia, garlic crafts and garlic food and condiments, or try your luck in the garlic peeling contest. The Garlic Festival is held at Sheldon Field located at the south end of Ocean Park. Remember, it's chic to reek (of garlic, that is).

SandSations

Sea creatures, cartoon characters, and more will come to life during the annual SandSations, July 21-22 at the Bolstad beach approach in Long Beach. Have you always wanted to try your hand at building a sand castle? Sand sculpting contestants can register at www.funbeach.com. For more information, call (800) 451-2542 or (360) 642-2400.

Long Beach Rodeo

This big little rodeo offers thrills and excitement for the entire family. Check out the saddle bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, barrel racing, Pee Wee barrels and a perennial crowd favorite, bull riding. Kids, you might want to try mutton busting (riding sheep)! A hearty Cowboy Breakfast is offered both days of the rodeo. Vendors have booths inside and out to feed hungry rodeo goers throughout the day.

The rodeo is held July 29-30 at the rodeo grounds, located off Sandridge Road east of Long Beach. For more information, call the Peninsula Visitor's Bureau at (360) 642-2400 or (800) 451-2542.

International Kite Festival

Come celebrate the wind at the annual Washington State International Kite festival Aug. 21-27. Join flyers and watchers from around the world enjoying the beauty and grace of kites. Food and craft booths line the Bolstad Avenue beach approach. Other highlights of the week-long festival include handmade kites, mass ascensions, kite trains, Japanese kite fighting, kite-making workshops, and the ever-popular lighted kite fly. Both Friday and Saturday evenings feature fireworks displays on the beach starting at dusk. For more information on competition rules or the festival, call (800) 451-2542.

Hot Rod to the End of the World

If you love classic cars and hot rods, the annual Rod Run to the End of The World, Sept. 8-10, won't disappoint.

For more information, call the Ocean Park Area Chamber of Commerce at (800) 451-2542.

Water Music Festival

The festival has a tradition of fostering and reinforcing the love and appreciation of classical music. It extends this tradition by offering free performances at various venues, including local schools and nursing homes. Listen for the sounds of classical music resonating up and down the Long Beach Peninsula Oct. 20-22.

For more information and a list of performers, visit the festival's Web site at www.watermusicfestival.com or call (800) 451-2542.

Cranberrian Fair

Come celebrate the harvest and history of America's native fruit at the Cranberrian Fair, Oct. 13-15. This fair offers cranberry specialties and products, crafts, entertainment and tours of historic sites and points of interest on Washington's Long Beach Peninsula. Crafts of all sorts will be on display and cranberry food specialties will be available throughout the fair. The purchase of a button, available at shops throughout the peninsula, admits you to the fair and three museums. For more information, call the Heritage Museum at (360) 642-3446.

County, Wash.

Tucked between the shores of Willapa Bay and the majestic Columbia River is a valley dotted with farmlands. Clear rivers and wandering streams provide numerous recreational opportunities.

FinnFest USA 2006

Naselle's Finnish-American Folk Festival presents FinnFest USA 2006 from July 26 to 30 at sites in Astoria and Naselle. "Sisu and Sauna" is the festival theme and who can think of a more fitting one? Listen to Washington State's Governor's Heritage Award winner Wilho Saari play the kantele, partake in Finnish folk dancing or watch a skit, play or melodrama performed by local actors. There will be displays and demonstrations of traditional Finnish arts and crafts. More than 50 groups from Finland, Vancouver, British Columbia, and Seattle will perform during the festival. The annual FinnAm Golf Tournament, in a team scramble format, will be held at Gearhart Golf Links course.

In addition to the Paavo Nurmi run, there will be a wife-carrying contest, a boot-toss contest and special games for children. Tours of local industries that attracted the Finnish people to the lower Columbia – fishing, logging, cranberry growing, dairying – will be offered. Museum exhibits are planned for Clatsop County and Pacific and Wahkiakum counties in Washington.

Historic Grays River Bridge celebrated 100 years in 2005.

Historic covered bridge

Don't miss your chance to see one of the last covered bridges in the Northwest. The Grays River Covered Bridge was built in 1905 and recently celebrated its 100th anniversary.

It is located one-quarter mile south of State Route 4 just off Wahkiakum County's Loop Road. To get there from Naselle, take the SR 4 toward Longview. Turn right at Loop Road on the south side of the highway. It is approximately 14 miles east of Naselle. A covered bridge celebration is Aug. 5.

MAP LEGEND

1. Fort Clatsop National Memorial, the site of the Lewis and Clark Corps of Discovery's winter encampment of 1805-06. The replica fort was built from drawings. Interpreters in authentic costumes give demonstrations of wilderness survival skills. The visitor center has displays and films. Hiking trails run through the site. See pages 26-28 for more information.
2. Fort Stevens State Park was a military installation for World War II. Gun batteries, a campground, a lake and miles of bike trails grace the site. See page 30 for more information.
3. Cullaby Lake and Camahan County Park are popular for swimming, boating, fishing and picnicking.
4. Clark's "Dismal Nitch," where a winter storm stranded the Lewis and Clark party on a tiny piece of shoreline for almost a week in November 1805. It is one mile east of the Astoria Bridge on Washington State Route 4.
5. Station Camp, just east of present-day Chinook, Wash., where the Lewis and Clark group finally was "in full view of the Ocean," and declared its mission fulfilled. After polling the members, including Sacagawea and Clark's slave York, the captains decided to find an encampment on the south side of the river where the party could spend the winter before beginning its return journey.
6. Cape Disappointment State Park, formerly Fort Canby State Park, offers camping and hiking near Ilwaco, Wash. It borders the Columbia River and the Pacific Ocean. Visit Cape Disappointment Lighthouse and interpretive center. See page 58 for more information.
7. North Head Lighthouse is on the ocean side of the Long Beach Peninsula. Tours of the lighthouse and other buildings are offered.

THE BREAKERS-A LONG BEACH TRADITION

Long a family favorite the Breakers is known for it's friendly staff & clean rooms

Our Rooms.

Spacious ocean view suites with full kitchens, private balconies, living rooms, fireplaces and separate bedrooms. We charge one affordable room rate with nothing more for extra persons. We also feature hotel-sized rooms at economy rates. Wireless internet is free to our guests. Dogs permitted. 24-hour front desk. Senior and AAA discounts.

Our Property.

There's elbow room galore at the Breakers. Here you will find 26 acres of beachfront lawn and dunes complete with the sights, sounds and smell of the ocean. Our guests also enjoy an indoor pool and spa, a picnic area with enclosed outdoor barbeques and tables, a conference facility, guest laundries, fish cleaning rooms, horseshoe, basketball and volleyball courts and a children's playground.

THE BREAKERS OF LONG BEACH

We're located just 1-1/2 miles from downtown Long Beach.

For reservations Please Call
1-800-219-9833

The original Breakers Hotel was built in 1900. It was later torn down and the existing resort complex built in the 1970's. During the past few years over a million dollars have been spent on improvements to the rooms and buildings.

The Monument.

Two hundred years ago the Lewis and Clark expedition ended their trek here.

William Clark's journal states that on November 19, 1805, he carved his initials on a tree in front of the ocean. A new surfaced trail extends from our lobby to the bronze Clark's Tree Monument marking that spot in front of our resort. The trail then continues south for 1-1/2 miles to downtown Long Beach.

For today's view of our beach and Clark's Tree Monument,
